AIR FORCE CONTRACTING

Contract Specialists are Mission-Focused Business Leaders

Air Force Contract Specialists are the heart of a complex process relying on sound business acumen to deliver innovative and strategic business solutions that include everything from aerospace systems, such as satellites, electronics, and high-performing aircraft deployed directly to the warfighter to commercially available supplies and services necessary for the day-to-day operations of our military installations.

As mission-focused business leaders, Air Force Contract Specialists are at the forefront leveraging quantitative skill sets to analyze proposals, negotiate, execute, and administer contracts to fly, fight, and win in air, space, and cyberspace.

Our Missions:

- Systems
- Research and Development
- Test and Evaluation Classified
- Specialized
- Operational

Areas of Expertise:

- Services
- Supplies
- Construction
- Pricing
- Small Business
- Source Selection... the list goes on and on!

Become a Mission-Focused Business Leader

SOAR
TO NEW

DESIRED SKILLS & ABILITIES

Numerous factors such as technology advancement, procurement oversight and reform, and increased budgetary pressures challenge the ability of contract professionals to procure the requirements necessary to meet the needs of the Air Force. To meet these challenges, the Air Force Contract Specialists must demonstrate the requisite skills and abilities necessary to be the mission-focused business leaders of the Air Force. Some of these skills and abilities include:

Mission Focus
Leadership
Business Acumen

Critical Thinking
Problem Solving

Relationship Management
Contracts/Procurement

TRAINING & DEVELOPMENT

Aside from the skills and abilities above, the Air Force trains, develops, and empowers the contracting workforce to be mission-focused business leaders. This training begins with acquisition and contracting training from a best-in-class defense university. An Air Force Contract Specialist can also expect individual training and development plans designed to help them develop the necessary competencies to progress technically, operationally, and strategically. Civilian development programs such as new employee orientation, resident and non-resident professional military education, leadership training, and experiential-focused learning opportunities are also available to expand their strategic and operational knowledge base.

LAUNCH
YOUR CAREER

ARE YOU A SOPHOMORE OR BEYOND?

Consider the Premier College Intern Program (PCIP)

Full-time paid summer internships are available to current college and university sophomores and juniors, with the possibility of working part-time after the summer. These positions are offered in many locations around the country.

Our interns work in an actual Contracting Office, shoulder to shoulder with talented professionals working on challenging and rewarding projects.

Premier College Internships qualify you for a permanent full-time position once you complete your degree.

A full-time position will include a career development plan, a great salary, and all the benefits federal employees enjoy.

Requirements:

- A U.S. citizen
- A full-time student currently enrolled in an accredited college or university
- Pursuing a degree in Business or related field
- Sophomore year or beyond (including master's students) with one semester remaining after internship
- Good academic standing (2.95 GPA or better)
- At least 18 years of age

DEVELOP YOUR SKILLS

ALREADY HAVE A BACHELOR'S OR MASTER'S DEGREE?

Become a Copper Cap Intern

This program is designed to prepare college graduates, with at least a bachelor's degree, for a career as a Contract Specialist. Copper Cap (COP) interns experience both personal and professional growth during their three-year program.

They are assigned to work with Contracting Specialists and Officers to receive formal on-the-job training in all aspects of contract management, including:

- Market Research
- Requirements Definition
- Suppliers & Vendors
- Solicitation Preparation
- Response Evaluations
- Price Justification
- Negotiation & Award
- Contract Administration
- Performance Monitoring

Upon completion, each intern will be offered a full-time contracting position.

Applicants to the COP program must have a minimum of a four-year degree, 24 semester hours of business courses desired, and a GPA of 2.95 or higher.

DEVELOPMENTAL POSITIONS

Similar to the Copper Cap Program, there are some Air Force organizations who have created contracting developmental programs that are also designed to prepare college graduates for a career as a Contract Specialist. These developmental interns experience similar personal and professional growth during their program resulting in a full-time Air Force Contract Specialist position upon successful completion of the program.

These interns also receive all the benefits enjoyed by federal civilian employees, however, recruitment incentives are determined by the hiring unit.

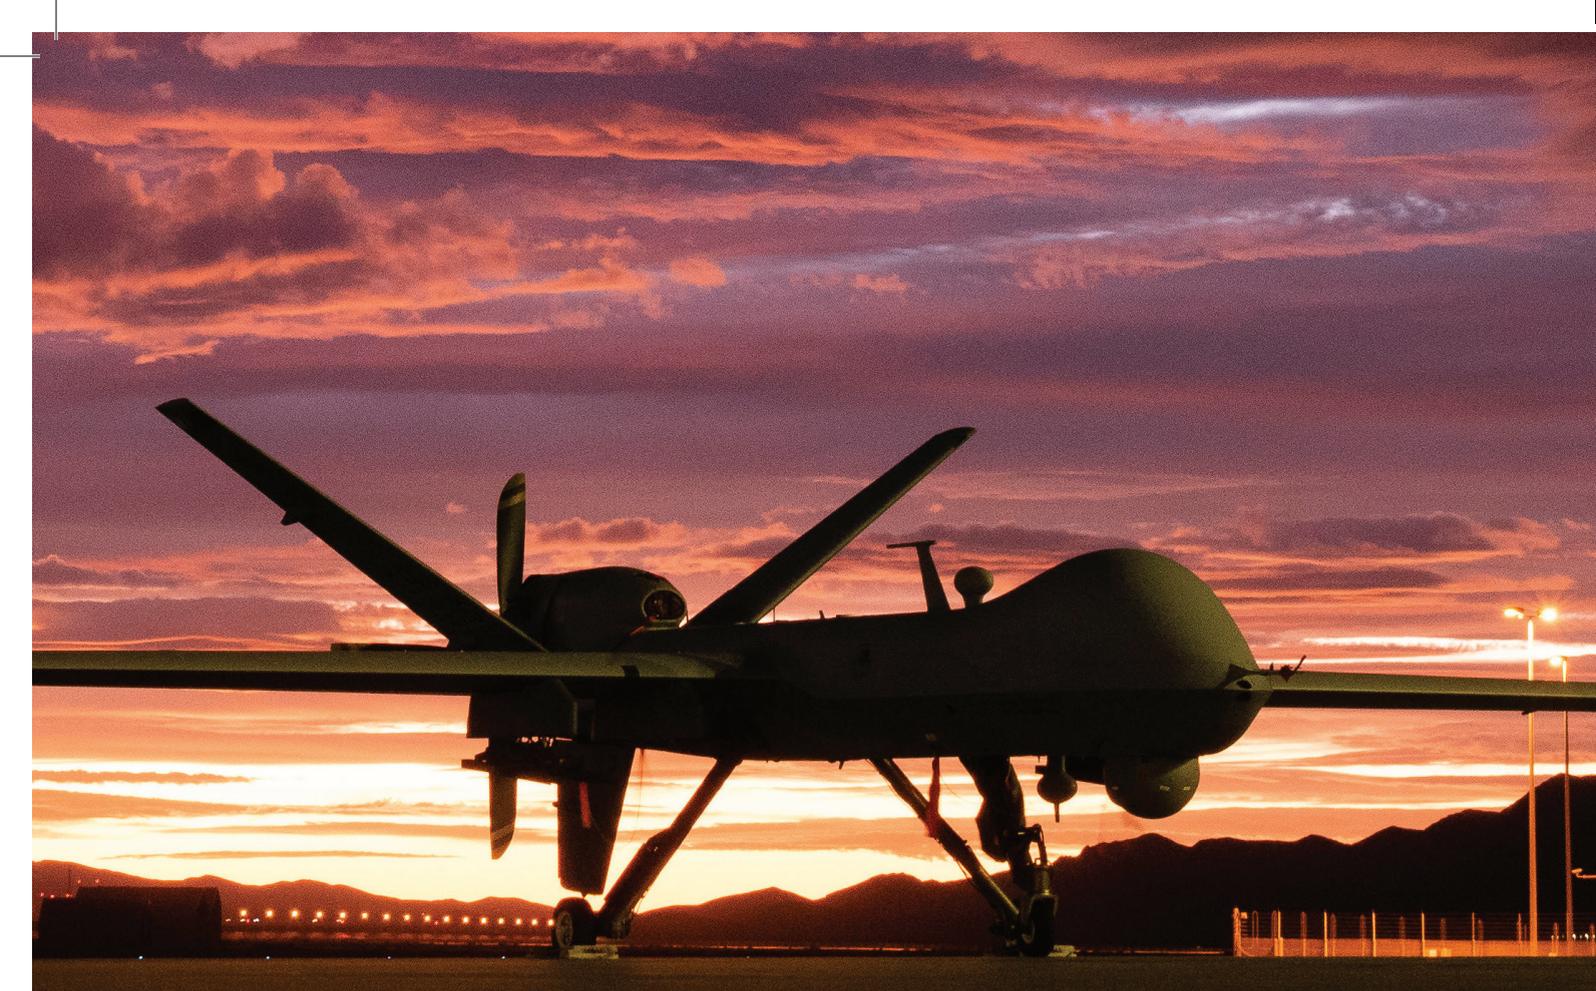

Applicants to local developmental programs also require a minimum of a four-year degree, 24 semester hours of business courses desired, and a GPA of 2.95 or higher.

ALREADY HAVE CONTRACTING CAREER EXPERIENCE?

Even though the developmental programs exist, there are other programs for individuals who already have contracting experience. The target grade for most of these positions is a GS-12 (**Minimum $76,721).
